

Thanks for using Metro.

It's clean, modern, safe and easy to use. No wonder Metro is considered the nation's finest transit system. This guide tells you how to use Metro, and the map on the inside will help you find your way around the Nation's Capital.

Metrorail fares

- Each passenger needs a farecard to enter and exit. (Up to two children under 5 may travel free with a paying customer.)
- Fares are based on when and how far you ride. Pay regular fares weekdays 5:30-9:30 a.m. and 3-7 p.m. Pay reduced fares at all other times.
- Large maps in each station show fares and travel times. Please see the station manager if you have any questions.
- Farecard machines are in every station. Bring small bills because there are no change machines in the stations and farecard machines only provide up to $5 in change (in coins). Some machines accept credit and debit cards.

One Day Passes

- Get one day of unlimited Metrorail rides with a $5 One Day Pass. Buy it at a Passes/Farecards machine in Metro stations. Use it after 9:30 a.m. until closing on weekdays, and all day on weekends and federal holidays.
- Get a day of unlimited Metrobus rides with a $2.50 Regional One Day Pass. Buy it from the bus driver. Use it on any regular Metrobus and most other local bus systems in the area.

Neighborhood maps

Free maps are available at each station manager's booth to help you find nearby points of interest.

Hours of service

Open: 5:30 a.m. Mon.-Fri. 8 a.m. Sat.-Sun.
Close: midnight Sun.-Thurs. 2 a.m. Fri.-Sat. nights

Last train times vary. When traveling late at night, please check the last train times posted in stations so you do not miss the last train.

Travel tips

- Earn a 10% bonus when buying a Metrorail farecard for $20 or more.
- Buy a roundtrip farecard to avoid lines at farecard machines after events.
- If possible, avoid riding Metro between 4 and 6 p.m. weekdays.
- During high tourist season, use other downtown Metro stations besides Smithsonian station.
